OPPOSITION ORGANIZED YESTERDAY

To Prepare for the Mock-Parliament

BARRE LEADER

Platform Will Not Be Announced Till Later

"We want sane, sound, progressive liberalism, displayed in this party, with as much pep as possible." So said the newly elected leader of the Opposition at the close of a meeting held primarily for the purpose of electing a leader for the Opposition. There was a considerable number out at the organization meeting.

H. O'Hagan took the chair, and stated the purpose of the meeting. He suggested that a leader should be appointed.

Victorien Barre and Howard O'Hagan were nominated, when it was moved and seconded that nominations be closed.

Barre then asked to withdraw his nomination in favour of O'Hagan. However, there was great objection to this.
His supporters demanded the right of voting for him, and hoped that he would see it fit to withdraw his resignation.

There was a great deal of debate upon the point of leadership. Some thought a chairman should be appointed and that a leader be nominated after the first night. The reason of all the argument did not seem quite clear, but it was finally moved, seconded and passed that a leader should be elected. Barre allowed his name to remain in the running, and was elected. He is a member of Law '22, and has served in other of the Mock Parliaments in former years.

Barre then spoke. He first of all thanked his supporters for electing him,
and promised to do what he could for the party of which he was head, and to give as much of his time as possible.
He said that he fully expected to swamp
the Government on November 9th. He said that three years ago, in particular,
the Parliament had been a splendid success. A great deal of college spirit had been displayed. Barre hoped that the same would happen this year. He said that too often people thought the Mock Parliament was an organization designed to give opportunity of experience to the men in the Law faculty. This is a most ridiculous assertion, because the Parliament is designed for every one, Science and Arts, as well as the other faculties. Barre said that the Opposition must, above all, oust the present
Prime Minister and split his party,
for every good man to come to the aid of the party. The Parliament is not only educational, but fun, and it is hoped to have five or six men from each faculty to form a sort of executive for the purpose of further organization, and the

FIRST INFORMAL IN UNION TONIGHT

All Preparations Completed
for Fine Entertainment

The first informal of the season
takes place tonight at the Union. No pains have been spared to make this opening affair a complete success and,
from present indications, there will be a large crowd present.

The patronesses of the evening will be Mrs. Laing, Miss Hurlbutt, and Mrs. Ernest Brown.

The McGill University orchestra has promised to be on hand with such music as bids fair to rival any that has penetrated the walls of the old dance hall thus far. One may be sure that there will be no disappointment
in this respect.

The very latest in decorations of the season has been supplied by the Union House Committee and promises to add to the decorative features of this,
the first University social function of the season.

Also, the Committee has hinted at the quality of the refreshments that are going to make their appearance, and it is certain that nothing has been neglected to make this part of the evening's entertainment the very best.

Reggie rushed into the club.
"Where's the body?" he exclaimed excitedly.

"Hot dog," chorused the members.
"What body?"

"Anybody," said Reggie.

The first regular meeting of the Junior Year representatives on the prospective 1924 Annual took place yesterday in Strathcona Hall, at which the following Annual Board was appointed:

Science Representative—E. Holland.
Uptown 3102. Two other Science members are to be appointed to-day.

The Board was fortunate in having present F. H. Walter, Associate Editor of the 1923 Annual, who gave an enlightening account of the main features of its compilation and publication. The 1924 Annual Board is to be congratulated on its early start, four weeks earlier than many of its predecessors. Owing to the usual difficulty in taking photographs,
the Business Manager will immediately
call for tenders from city photographers,
and a start should be made early next week. Biography forms are to be printed and distributed to the various junior years as soon as possible. A special effort will be made to have all photographs and biographies complete before the end of the month, which should be possible save for those of the hockey teams, and of other winter sports.

After a discussion on the shape of the coming Annual, the Board decided to adhere to that of last year, in place of the old narrowtype. The question of advertising has not yet been decided, but it is probable that this important work will be handled by students. The Board expressed regret that C. J. Tidmarsh

NEAR EAST QUESTION DISCUSSED

D. Cowan Reads Paper to Economic Club

TURKS AND GREEKS

Dr. Leacock Reviewed Question of Turkish Difficulties

"The Near Eastern Question" was the subject of a most informative paper given by D. Cowan before the Economic Club last evening. Dr. Leacock, who had been "so triumphantly elected Honorary President", and several of the forty-odd members present
entered into the enlightening discussion which followed.

Dr. Leacock spoke of the significance of meetings of this nature toward the intellectual development of the student and stressed the importance of the indirect benefits which are derived from these gatherings. Then, complimenting D. Cowan on his able discussion of this most difficult subject, pointed out the difficulties and problems of dealing with the Turks.

The Turks have always occupied Turkey as conquerors and have no other claims to this country of mixed races, for which they have done nothing. There is no basis whatsoever for the formation of national state—as is the case with the British Dominions, and this peculiar position occupied by the Turk forbids any application of the principal of "doing the decent thing;" the decent thing cannot be found.

The importance of Constantinople is not local. Its strategic situation at a gateway of the world is of vital interest to practically every country. It is also the focus of the eyes of those millions who live within a comparatively short radius.

The idea in English diplomatic circles has been to keep the Turks in,
and the Russians out, of Turkey; based on the idea of the menace of Russia.

The might of Islam possessed by the Turks is a big factor in all negotiations with them. England has almost a dread of stirring up the fanaticism of the Mohammedans in India and their diplomats must always consider "what will India do?"

The difficulty of England after the war in having to award its ally Greece, and punish its enemy Turkey; and the foreign policies of the Labour and the Conservative parties was also gone into by Dr. Leacock.

D. Cowan, in his instructive paper, sketched the history of the Eastern Question, "as the present situation is incomprehensible without such a sketch which necessarily is historical,

Miss McCallum and Miss
Madge Tell of Orient

The R.V.C.S.C.A. were very fortunate in having Miss McCallum of the Physical Education Department speak of India and her work there; also Miss Madge, National Bible Study Secretary in India.

Miss McCallum, although not working under the S.C.A., really credited the McGill S.C.A. with giving her the inspiration of answering the call to India. The S.C.M. and Y.M.C.A. are linked up more closely in the East than here, and consequently she spoke more of the Y.M.C.A.

Miss McCallum's work was to supervise physical education work in Bombay, partly in government schools.
It is a credit to our country that it is Canada who has undertaken the physical development of the people of this country. The girls were mostly Hindoos, Anglo-Indians and a few Mahomeddians, and are very keenly interested in their work. The people are realizing the need of a strong race
and in addition to the phase of physical education tennis, basketball and sports entered into enthusiastically by many.

MONTREAL, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1922

DORMITORIES AND THE FUTURE.

The reputation of a college in parts of the country, where the population does not come into constant and direct contact with the students, depends, perhaps, upon an extent not realized, upon the showing made by that university on the athletic field. When an account is read of a contest between two otherwise unknown institutions, that which is recorded as achieving the greatest success is unconsciously looked upon as superior to its rival. Whether or not this is justifiable is not the question; the fact remains that it is a prevalent condition. The natural corollary to deduce from the above statement is, that in order to maintain a university's standing abroad, it is advisable to support its accomplishments along other lines with an enviable history in sports. To retain a high position in the different leagues organized to promote athletic endeavour it is essential that the source of new material be unfailing; men are required to take up the work that was accustomed to be borne by those graduating.

In this latter connection McGill has been particularly unfortunate, and it is not difficult to realize that her prestige has suffered as a result. Our university has a wide area to draw upon—from Newfoundland to Vancouver Island; yet registration has not mounted as it has in the case of other halls of learning whose names we need hardly mention. We may pride ourselves that a huge enrollment is not necessarily indicative of fame; however, we must remember that it is not incompatible with such, and as a direct aid to athletics by affording a more varied sphere of selection and an ever-present stream of reinforcement, it is most certainly a factor in the establishment of outside esteem. The lack of response to the opportunity open to Canadians who satisfy the requirements of the matriculation to enter McGill may not be attributed to any feeling of non-confidence on the part of those eligible as to the ability of McGill to satisfy their wishes in the matter of presenting them with the best of advantages insofar as the obtaining of a degree is concerned, or of making them the recipients of a degree that would suffer in comparison with none other. Nor can the comparatively limited registration of McGill be the outcome of any discredit sustained by our athletics—it is not so much the present as the future teams that will experience hardship from insufficiency of raw material; it is when the present mainstays graduate that difficulty will be had in replacing them.

It is not to these that we must look. It is rather to the delinquency of McGill in neglecting to offer inducements to out-of-town men in the matter of dormitory accommodation and gymnasium facilities that we must blame for any discouragement that may be in the way of registration at McGill. It is deplorable that a university of the age, of the international repute and of the size of our Alma Mater should be in this respect of dormitories and gymnasium inferior to the smaller and younger colleges in the country. Not only are we so placed in regard to these colleges, but with those with which our competition is more evident, we are labouring under an obvious disadvantage: to one arriving at his decision between two universities with either of which he is unacquainted, and of the relative merits of which he is in doubt, the final influence in his decision will be the dormitory accommodation provided. Who of the undergraduates at McGill has not been asked regarding dormitories, and has not tried to change the course of the conversation before having to come out with a flat denial of the existence of such at his Alma Mater, and so has more often than not secured another student for our neighbors?

Mention of the importance of dormitories in the fostering of college spirit scarcely requires stress in these columns. It is a fact, only too evident, that the greatest asset to the building up of an affection for the college, and a regard for one another among the undergraduates is the association of the undergraduates with their college and with one another to the greatest extent possible. How this can be better effected than through the agency of common rooming quarters is hard to conceive. McGill is losing students through the absence of dormitories; if this continues McGill is bound to relinquish the present proud position it holds among the colleges. The undergraduate body has long been expecting the erection of dormitories; the demand for them is urgent, immediate and persistent. The reasons for delay while other building operations are going forward may be apparent to some few of the students, but the great majority, who are ignorant of the circumstances of the postponement, would welcome an explanatory announcement from the authorities.

decision of a platform. It was thought best not to decide upon any special programme till later on.

There were many suggestions as to what the party should be called. The following names were suggested: Constitutional Party, Liberal Party, Liberal-Conservative and Democratic.

O'Hagan said that last year the party was called the Constitutional Party. He said there are many men serving on it this year who were on it last, and that the name would designate the Party as opponents of the Progressive Party.

This was put in the form of a motion, and carried, that the party be called "The Constitutional Party."

CORRESPONDENCE

The Daily is not responsible for the sentiments of letters published in the correspondence columns. Signed communications from graduates, undergraduates and members of the faculties will be placed in print if they are not of too great length.

Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office—that they write upon ONE SIDE OF THE PAPER ONLY.

The Editor, McGill Daily:

Dear Sir,—Last year there was considerable criticism about the inactivity of the Canadian Club, and as a result some effort was made to hold meetings in the spring. Some of the more noticeable critics in the correspondence column of your paper last season have this year attained the dignity of members of the executive of that club, and it would appear that their zealotry has been lapsed somewhat as a result. Can it be that they feel that their interest in the organization which has been placed under their control can be allowed to lapse, although their extremely noticeable solicitude for the progress of the club was the main reason for their election?

The present session is now pretty well advanced, and not a word has been said about the programme of the Canadian Club. With the exception of the past year, the organization was always one of the most thriving at the University, and the speakers invited to the University were always listened to with the greatest of interest by a large number of students. The talk by Colonel Ham last session was also well patronized by the student body. If the men in charge of the programme this year really intended to boom the activities of the club there should have been some announcement of its plans before this, as early weeks in November have always been the best part of the first term in which to hold meetings.

If something is not done in the near future it will be impossible to have a prominent speaker here before the students begin their migration for the Christmas holidays, and the advent of examinations on their return will preclude any event until late in February. An announcement from the officers of the club would be read with interest.

INQUISITIVE.

R.V.C. S.C.A. LEARN OF THE FAR EAST

It is the dream of those interested in physical education work to have established a real training school in India as in China. The Y.M.C.A. is the only institution who are trying to help in this.

Y.M.C.A. work in China is very interesting. In the cities there are large buildings where splendid work is being done but very wonderful things are the hostels in the hills where native girls can have an inexpensive holiday.

The Vernacular Department makes the greatest appeal of all to those who are engaged in "Y" work. In helping with the language and general education of the Indians it is possible to come into close contact with the people and to see the conditions in which they live. Cooking, sewing, laundry and many other useful things are taught.

The Westerners are giving these Eastern peoples a different outlook on life by helping them to freedom of soul and mind. The backing of the people at home is, however, absolutely necessary to this work.

Miss Madge, who had come from China, spoke of the strong Nationalist spirit growing in India and especially the World's Student Federation in among the students. We must make them see their wonderful Indian heritage and help them break down the barriers between them and their non-Christian brothers and sisters. The "Y" has a great opportunity of breaking this gulf between the different classes and it is trying to teach the Indians to take what we give them and mould it themselves into a form that will be most beneficial to them. The Indians must take their part in their own country.

At the conclusion of these interesting talks several business matters were attended to.

Miss Isabel Millen resigned as convener of the Missionary Department. No further work will be done unless more enthusiasm is shown in this branch of the work.

An amendment in the Constitution provided that the voting delegate should be a member of the Cabinet.

A committee to arrange the "Sings" was formed consisting of the following members: Eileen Basken, Margaret Lough, Margaret Cameron, Mary Fry. The following members were appointed to help the Ladies' Auxiliary: A. Creelman, M. Dyke, M. McWatters.

The fellow who buys haphazard—or the chap who puts his every-day purchasing on a business basis?

The latter, of course. He is the one who reads the advertisements and discovers just where he can buy what he wants. He is the one who realizes the great value of advertising when it comes to the important business of spending his hard-earned money.

BASKETBALL CLUB OPENS THE SEASON

First Meeting Was Held Yesterday
GOOD ATTENDANCE
T. W. Eadie to Be Manager This Year

At the initial meeting for the season 1922-23, of the Basketball Club, held last night, T. W. Eadie was appointed manager of the Senior team. Plans for the year and questions of City League and class basketball games were discussed.

The meeting was opened by Crain, who spoke shortly on the work of the club. He announced the appointment of T. W. Eadie as manager for this year. Eadie has been a close follower of basketball and should handle the position well. Crain then asked for new business, and the plans for the club in general were discussed. In all probability there will be two junior teams, two intermediates in sufficient stellar material appears, two senior teams. It is the hope of the club that there is at McGill enough good players to allow two senior teams on the floor.

As yet a coach has not been selected but work is proceeding rapidly in this matter, so that it is hoped an announcement can be made soon. Last year it was the effort of George Fox that set the team through to a championship. F. M. Van Wagner handled four games, which did remarkable work, and although handicapped by poor facilities they developed some good material, which will appear this year in senior company. The City League will have a meeting to-night, and draw up its schedule.

The class series is to start on the 13th of the month. Teams who have not as yet entered should see Crain at once, if they wish to get into the league. A list of practice hours is appended.

The teams desiring hours for practice should see Mr. Van Wagner. After Tuesday Eadie will be in the manager's office at the Union to take care of this.

Men who are eligible to play are those who did not play senior or intermediate last year.

The series will be sudden death, until eight teams are left, and these will play series to decide the winner.

QUEENS NOT ENTERED FOR HARRIER MEET

Toronto and R.M.C. Both Competing
MCGILL READY
Meeting of Harrier Union to Be Held After Race

Queens University will not be represented by a team in the Intercollegiate Harrier Meet being held to-morrow morning. Word from Kingston to that effect was received last night.

Toronto and R.M.C., however, are both well represented, and their teams include some star men who will be hard to beat.

The R.M.C. team, which arrived last night, includes the following men: Nelson, Creighton, Pritchard, Harris and LeBostillier, an aggregation of first-class cross-country men, who will do their utmost to carry off the honors to-morrow morning. A last minute change was made in their entries, when they arrived with different men from those included in the list of entries sent down last week.

The Toronto representatives are expected some time to-day. The team which will line up to-morrow is composed of A. N. Bell, L. F. Curton, W. W. Goforth, G. G. Shaver and J. A. Smith. This is practically the same group of men who managed to take first place in last year's meet at Kingston. Whether they will be able to repeat their feat this year is a matter of considerable doubt, especially to the minds of McGill supporters. The college team is composed not only of star track men and cross country runners who have made for themselves a name in other meets, but of men who have been training faithfully for the last month in preparation for to-morrow's meet. The names of Wiggins, Stevens, Legg, Kerr, Egerton and Champion are all well known to followers of the running game, and, if they live up to past performances, have an excellent chance of carrying the Red and White to victory to-morrow.

The race is scheduled to start at 11 a.m. to-morrow, from the Stadium. The runners will go up Pine Avenue, and by way of the Peel Street serpentine, will round the west shoulder of the mountain. The course will then circle the meadow north of the Ski Club-house, and come back over the up track as far as the serpentine, where it will continue past the reservoir to Fletcher's Field. Then around the Cartier monument, and down Park Avenue to Pine. A last effort will carry the runners up Pine Avenue, to finish with a final lap on the Stadium track.

The officials in charge of the race have announced that 20 men will be needed as clerks of the course to check up the runners. Any men who are to render a service to the University, besides enjoying an unequalled view of the race, are urged to report at the Stadium at 10 o'clock sharp to-morrow morning, when they will be assigned to their posts.

A meeting of the Canadian intercollegiate Harrier Union will be held at the Union following the race.

ANNOUNCE CHANGE IN BOXING CLASS

Two Groups Next Week—Special Class Wednesday

The prospects of the B. W. and F. Club continue to grow brighter, despite the fact that football and other autumn sports are still interfering with the men's attendance of the classes. At yesterday's meeting, however, fully 100 men, 70 of whom were boxers, turned out and put in a hard hour's grind with the gloves, foils or on the mat. The boxing class expects to reach the hundred mark, and there is little doubt but that the other two branches of the club will also increase in numbers.

Brody, and one other 175 lb. man have been moved to the special advanced class, which holds its workout on Wednesdays at four o'clock. In this class the men do not waste time on elementary instructions or in changing the gloves, but put in a solid hour of real practice. Therefore, all the men who have had some experience in the "manly art" should work hard in order that they may be invited to join this advanced class.

Two of the three bouts scheduled for the St. Anne's Hospital on Nov. 8th have now been arranged, and it is hoped that a most enjoyable smoker will be held. It has been decided to hold two other entertainments for the soldiers, one before and the other after the Christmas holidays. The boxers will also be glad to put on bouts at any other smokers held during the session.

It has been decided to divide next week's class into two groups; one of beginners and the other of more experienced men. One class will be held between five and six o'clock, and the other between six and seven. Announcement as to the order of the classes will be made at an early date.

TEDDY CLARKE WRITES FROM CALIFORNIA

Former McGill Goalkeeper Writes to Dr. Lamb
A SUGGESTION
Urges More International Athletic Contests

Nearly every day evidence is forthcoming that graduates and past students of old McGill in far-off places still remember their days at their Alma Mater. The following letter to Dr. Lamb from "Teddy" Clarke, who, it will be remembered, played goal on the McGill hockey team in 1920, is of interest to the student body.

Los Angeles,
October 23, 1922.

Dear "Dad" Lamb:

You will probably not remember me when you come to my name at the end of all this, but there is a possibility also that you may, and so I am writing you these few lines. I had a worthy inspiration.

You see, Dad, in the two short years that I spent at old McGill, I always had the feeling that the school should do everything possible to encourage American college competition in every department. In my last year there, I remember that Dartmouth was the only college from across the line who came up to their stuff. I kept on hoping that in time things would change and international competition would show a decided increase.

I will tell you how I happened to write you such a letter. Last week I went over to the U.S.S. New York, which is anchored out here a little way, to dinner. In conversation with some of the Ensigns, I told them that I was a McGill man, and they opened up and certainly made me feel proud of the old school. They were telling me about the McGill boxing and wrestling team that went down to Annapolis last winter. They remembered Brewer and several others, and spoke very highly of the type of man they were putting out in the Canadian Schools.

Now, in my humble opinion, Dad, that is the idea. There is nothing like sports to popularize a college, and when a college's athletic activities are confined to a local territory it stands to reason that it is losing a lot of wonderful publicity. Don't you think that I am substantially correct?

I read where Syracuse played McGill last year in a splendid game, and quite a few people even way down here became curious as to who and what McGill was.

Some courses in McGill, I am sure, are unsurpassed, and should prove very attractive to outside students other than our own, if any knowledge of our school could be carried to them.

Wishing every success to you and your school, I remain,

Yours sincerely,
TED. E. CLARKE,

and the historical and the economic aspects cannot be separated.

"The Eastern Question has existed since the days of Charles Martel, when the Crusaders carried it on religious grounds. In 1453 Constantinople was captured by the Turks, which had a profound effect on the rest of Europe."

"For four centuries Turkey dominated Eastern Europe, but beginning with the seventeenth century its empire begins to weaken and its boundaries are slowly drawn in. This retreat of Islam in Europe around the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles gives birth to the Eastern Question."

"The sixteenth century was a great one for Mohammedanism but with a weak succession of emperors the Turkish power was undermined and this century saw a concentrated assault against Islam."

"In the eighteenth century Turkish influences wane and it becomes now a European question in its entirety. As the rule of Turkey becomes weaker the Christians in the Balkans become desirous of liberty and we have the partly successful Serbian revolt in 1814 and the revolt of the Greeks in 1829. Then followed a series of struggles with famine and misery in the Balkans."

The result of these uprisings was that Turkey came under the tutelage of the Great Powers, who were not disinterested, but dispirited of profiting in its dismemberment. Then followed the Crimean War with the Russian designs on Constantinople; then the Balkan War of 1887 and the independence of the various states and finally the Balkan War of 1912-13.

It is very difficult to comprehend the modern aspects owing to the mingling of nationalistic and religious tendencies. The growth of Hellenism in the nineteenth century was dashed by their defeat in 1897 but their hopes were for the future. The treaty which closed

RUGGER TEAM FOR TOMORROW'S GAME

McGill vs. Varsity at the Stadium
At the conclusion of yesterday's practice, the team which will represent McGill in English Rugby against Varsity to-morrow afternoon at the Stadium was announced, as follows:—

Full Back.
A. N. McLeod.
Three-quarters.
Marpole,
H. C. D. Cooper,
MacNamee,
MacDonald.
Halves.
J. R. Cooper,
Holman.
Forwards.
G. Wilson,
Walter,
K. Patterson,
Brown,
Cleland,
Lochead,
McGoun,
O'Brien.
Reserves— MacAvity, Wise, Taylor, Norontso.

With one or two exceptions, the team is the same as took the field last Saturday against the Montreal English team, but it is expected that as a team they will be a great deal more effective and should give Varsity a big surprise. The practices this week have done a lot towards correcting the weaknesses of the team, and there seems to be a feeling of confidence prevailing among the players that to-morrow night will see them champions.

The game is scheduled to start at 2.15 p.m., and the above men will report at the field house at 1.45 p.m.

THE V-A-S-E.

From the madding crowd stand apart,
The maidens four and the work of art;
And none might tell from sight alone
In which had culture ripest grown—
The Gotham million fair to see,
The Philadelphia Pedigree,
The Boston Mind of Azure hue,
Or the Soulfoul soul from Kalamazoo—
For all loved Art in a seemly way,
With an earnest soul and a capital A.
Long they worshipped; but no one broke
The sacred stillness until up spoke
The Western one from the nameless place,
Who, blushing, said: "What a lovely vase!"
Over three faces a sad smile flew,
And they edged away from Kalamazoo.
But Gotham's haughty soul was stirred
To crush the stranger with one small word.
Deftly hiding reproof in praise,
She cries: "'Tis, indeed, a lovely vase."
But brief her unworthy triumph when
The lofty one from the house of Penn.
With the consciousness of two grand-pap's,
Exclaims: "It is quite a lovely vase."
And glances round with an anxious thrill,
Awaiting the word of Beacon Hill.
But the Boston maid smiles courte-
And gently murmurs: "O, pardon me!
"I did not catch your remark, because I was so entranced with that charming vase."

James Jeffrey Roche.

stalled in lost territory, including Constantinople.

Many years before the war the British interests in the country were more material than moral—a fight for existence—Suez Canal and advantage points in Mediterranean. The French interests and traditions in the Levant. Russia wished free access to oceans.

The Treaty of Sevres which followed the Great War assured control of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles by the Allies while Greece was allotted parts of Thrace and Smyrna and districts along Aegean. The only justification for the Allies giving Smyrna to Greece was to punish Turkey as an enemy.

The Greeks pushed into Smyrna; Britain's fear for her Mohammedan empire forbids her to openly back the Greeks. The Greeks are defeated due to the Anglo-French discord and the war-weariness of the Greek soldiers.

Diplomatic battle ensues with control of Eastern Mediterranean and Near East at stake. France assumes historic, while British assumes role of protector.

Here the speaker showed that religious considerations should be set aside. For "the Christianity of the Eastern churches has very little in common with the Church of Rome and practically nothing with the Protestant Church."

In the speaker's opinion any danger of any recent war was due solely to the "extinction of parliamentary government in England."

"To give any solution to this question is impossible," concluded D. Cowan, as he quoted Bonar Law's policy:

"Prevention of massacres or retention of freedom of Straits is not Britain's particular affair."

As a Mohammedan power, Britain must deal fairly with the Turks and not look upon Turkey as a "sick man"

MCGILL AND QUEENS MEET IN KINGSTON

Presbyterians Are Favorites in Tomorrow's Game
TEAM DETERMINED
Gridiron Warriors Leave by G.T. at 11 Tonight

With but one day remaining before the closing game of McGill's Intercollegiate schedule against Queens to-morrow, prospects for a good showing by the Red and White loom fairly favorable. The return of "Don" Baillie to the squad has bolstered up the defense in no small measure, and the ability of the veteran quarter-back to wriggle through the line will add considerably to the power of McGill's attack. Furthermore, the team has not lost heart by reason of the reverses suffered to date at the hands of their rivals, and are out-determined to make the Presbyterians battle every inch of the way when the two teams meet in Kingston. The players, during the past week, have been showing more enthusiasm in their daily workouts, than at any time this season, and every practice has abounded with "pep."

The make-up of the team which will oppose the tri-color is as yet undecided, although certain positions are definitely filled. Baillie will start at quarter-back, with Carroll, Little and probably Eddie Crain on the half line. Walsh who started the season as a lineman, has been shifted to the backfield, and will probably get a chance to fill in at one of the half-back positions to-morrow. At flying wing Coach Shaughnessy is using Campbell Cope, who displayed his wares to satisfaction in the last two contests. "Cam," however, incurred an injury to his leg in Wednesday's scrimmage, and was not on the field yesterday afternoon. It is not yet known just how serious the injury is, but it will very likely prevent him from starting the game. Sparring for him "Shag" has Ralph Cummings, who was recently promoted to the senior squad, and is showing much defensive ability. Cummings is also being used as an outside.

On the outside wing positions, there are Charlie Robertson, Murphy, Fife and Newton. Robertson will start on right end, with Murphy probably at left. The latter because of his good tackling, has been changed from a back-field man to a wing. At middle there are Ambridge and Manson. At inside, Foss, Woodruff and Gamble, and at centre McGregor, with Smith as utility pivot man.

The squad will leave for Kingston by Grand Trunk Railroad at 11 o'clock to-night.

MED. '25 DEFEAT '26 IN EXCITING GAME

A fast indoor baseball match was held last night, when Med '25 defeated Med '26, the score at the end of the seven innings being 30-3 in favour of the fourth year men. The fact that the scores differed so widely does not prove that the game was by any means one-sided, for the third year men fought every bit of the way, and the hope of winning was not abandoned until the last man was "out."

The line-ups were as follows:—

PROPOSE NEW REGULATIONS FOR B.Sc., MED

Motion Before Corporation Next Tuesday

DEGREE FOR SIMS

Special Convocation to Be Held on November 10th

Among the items of business which will come up before the meeting of Corporation of McGill to be held in the Faculty Room of the Medical Building next Tuesday will be some important proposed new regulations governing the requirements for the degree of B.Sc. in Medicine. The formality of authorizing a special Convocation on Nov. 10th to confer the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws on Admiral W. S. Sims, G.C.M.G. will also come up.

The degree of Bachelor of Science in Medicine was first introduced at McGill for the purpose of encouraging medical students to specialize in certain subjects, particularly the biological sciences, with the view of ultimately becoming teachers or consultants in those subjects. Owing to the depletion of the ranks in the medical teaching professions by casualties in the war, and owing also to the widening of the field of medical investigation in recent years, there are many promising openings for such specialists, and, like other leading universities of North America, McGill is preparing to contribute her quota to the new generation of instructors and investigators.

Hitherto, the requirements for the B.Sc. Med. have not been categorically defined. In principle, a student intending to secure the degree would take three years in the course for the degree of Doctor of Medicine, and then devote a fourth year to independent research work. The proposed requirements practically mean a new degree, replacing the present one. The requirements for the proposed degree are as follows:

(a)—Honour standing in the examinations in any two of the following subjects: Anatomy (including Histology and Embryology), Physiology, Biochemistry, Pharmacology and Pathology. The subjects selected may be termed the minor subjects.

(b)—High standing in another of the subjects, which may be called the major subject, obtained in the examinations held in the final year of that subject in the course of the M.D. degree, examinations demanding a much wider and more thorough knowledge than is exacted of the student to obtain honour standing in a minor subject.

To enable the candidate for the degree to qualify for the examination in his major subject, courses of instruction over and above those now provided for in the subject in the course for the degree of M.D. are to be given in the final year of the subject by the staff of the Department concerned, which additional course should involve not less than two hundred and fifty hours.

If the candidate for the degree selects Biochemistry as his major subject, he must, to qualify, have taken honour standing in examinations in Chemistry of the Second Year.

The candidate for the degree should have a reading knowledge of French and German, and his attainments, as shown by his record in the class lists in the undergraduate course, must be distinctly above those of the average student.

AMERICAN CLUB MEETS IN UNION

Preparations for Thanksgiving Well Under Way

The American Club of McGill University held its first meeting of the year last night at 7 p.m. in the Music Room of the Union. The U. S. was well represented, there being students present from eighteen different states.

The evening was started by general introductions among those present, followed by an election of officers for the coming year. The following men were chosen:—

Hon. President—Dr. F. E. Lloyd. President—D. E. Tinkess.

Secretary—R. M. Hamilton. Treasurer—A. K. Koff.

The rest of the time was then devoted to a discussion of the prospects of getting all the American fellows together next week at a smoker, to be held in the Union, at which plans will be completed for the coming dinner to be held on the regular American Thanksgiving Day. There is a good representation of Americans in the entering class this year—94, to be exact—and there is every reason to suppose that with the members of students of other years this dinner will prove a huge success. Every American is urged to be present at the coming smoker, which will afford an excellent opportunity to meet all the students at McGill from the States.

Knowlton was then made chairman of a committee to complete arrangements for the dinner, with subordinates from each of the faculties to aid him. Also steps were taken to see all those who were not present personally, and to inform them of the arrangements made toward the smoker and Thanksgiving dinner.

All indications point to a successful season this year, and enthusiasm has already made its appearance among the members toward making the coming Thanksgiving affair unsurpassed in the history of the organization.

WATER POLO GAME MCGILL-LASALLE

Intermediates Play at Cote St. Paul

The Intermediate Water Polo squad are all prepared to give the LaSalle Club a stiff battle in their scheduled game which takes place to-night. A stiff workout was held last night, and considerable improvement was noticed. The game is being held at the LaSalle on St. George St., at 7.45 p.m.—

All the men showed up well, and seem to be in the best of condition. The game to-night should prove very interesting, as much enthusiasm has been aroused among the players, so a great fight can be expected. LaSalle has been practising very hard, and a victory to the Red and White ought to give them considerable confidence for their future games. The following players are requested to meet at the Rubenstein Baths on St. George St. at 7.45 p.m.—

Jardine, Forsyth, Phypys, Vickerson, Bethel, Moore, Murphy, Kyle.

QUICK START IS MADE ON 1924 ANNUAL

would be unable to serve as a Medicine representative, owing to press of affairs.

The Editor-in-Chief declared that the continued co-operation of all juniors is imperative to the success of the 1924 Annual, and that they must endeavour to help the Board make this Annual the most attractive yet published.

For some twenty-five years, the junior years of McGill have edited either Year Books or Annuals, which have served as invaluable souvenirs of college days, and as memorials of the progress of "Old McGill." The Board members asserted that owing to the early commencement, a great effort will be made to have the Annual in the hands of the juniors in record time. All juniors are expected to purchase the timely volume, which may also be procured by several hundred other students.

The Union House Committee has kindly placed the Union Library on the second floor at the disposal of the Board, and all members are requested to attend a meeting there at 5.15 p.m. Tuesday, November 7th.

OPENING MEETING OF DENTAL SOCIETY HELD

The Dental Undergraduates' Society started the season of 1922-23 last night, when they held their initial meeting in the Assembly Hall of the New Medical Building.

The meeting opened at 8.30, with a good attendance. Hyndman, the president, gave his opening address, and the business of the Society was then taken up in which plans for the coming year were discussed. It was decided that a Dental Dance will be held, if possible, some time in December. It was further decided to organize a Dental Orchestra, and G. Fels was elected to direct it. Dr. Thornton, the Dean of the Faculty, very kindly delivered a splendid little address, in which he promised his support of any social function which the society may take up.

Following the meeting, Fels served up excellent jazz on the piano, and refreshments brought a decidedly successful meeting to a close.

He—Where did you do most of your skating when you were learning?
She—I think you're horrid.—Ex.
